The Dance of the Divine

An ancient ritualistic form of worship, the folk art Theyyam is a blend of dance, music and fervent devotion. Fiery colours, awe-inspiring headgears, costumes and face designs, the rhythm of the chenda, the intense fragrance of the burning camphor and intense passion all combine to offer you an experience worth a lifetime.
Dance of the Divine

Clad in fiery red, these infuriated spirits will bless you for prosperity and will take away your fret. Colourful and rich in presentation, Theyyam is a ritualistic folk dance which has an elite place in the heritage of Kerala. Theyyam which literally means God is a combination of ritual, theatrical and lived culture of the northern parts of Kerala.

Performed in Kavu, Kalari and Tharavadu (traditional family houses) especially in Kannur and Kasaragod districts, Theyyam developed regional variations. Of the over 400 Theyyams evolved over centuries, Theyyam is a synthesis of tribal, Dravidian and Aryan cultural practices and many of them are confined to certain localities and the right to perform it restricted to certain communities.

The Theyyam season begins after the harvest in October and continues till April-May.

NAGAKAALI
NAGAKAALI

A fertility goddess worshiped by childless parents, Nagakaali is a fierce goddess. In Malayalam Naga means serpent and Kali means Mother Goddess. During kaliyattam performance in shrines devotees also offer pulluvan pattu to appease the deity. Pulluvan pattu are the traditional songs of Pulluva community which is performed as a ritual offering to serpent gods. With huge headgear made of wood, the dancing gradually begins to the beat of the chenda (traditional drum), the kuzhal (wind instrument) and ilathalam (traditional cymbals) and gathers into a frenzied tempo.

GULIKAN VELLATTU
Vellattam or Vellattu is an invocative ritual held prior to the actual Theyyam performance. The Gulikan Vellattu is held for Gulikan Theyyam, a character which represents the Hindu God of death, Yama. Through Vellattu ritual, the mortal human being is transformed into the divine self. Equivalent to the Thottam (the invocatory chant) ritual, Vellattams are more vibrant and vigorous.
GURUDEVAN THEYYAM
GURUDEVAN THEYYAM

An invocation to the supreme deity, Gurudevan is performed in a traditional home or Tharavadu in Northern Kerala.
A popular Theyyam, Khandakarnnan was born from Lord Shiva’s throat. Wearing a massive mudi (headgear) and 16 flares - made of palm leaves, Khandakarnnan while performing walks up and down the kalari till all the flares attached to his body drop one by one. Khandakarnnan has burning torches tied to his body and mudi.
Bhagavathy literally means Mother Goddess. Bhagavathy Theyyam is an embodiment of the primal feminine energy that manifests itself in the bodies of men.
GULIKAN
Gulikan is a unique Theyyam with different moods. With its huge headgear made of areca nut palm, Gulikan Theyyam represents the Hindu God of death, Yama. It is believed that this prankster Theyyam was born from the left toe of Lord Shiva.

In this Theyyam, the performer wears a typical mask - which has Lord Shiva’s trishul (trident) marked on the head. A unique mix of coconut leaves is used as ornaments to decorate the area around the clothes. The most innovative ornament is the headgear made of areca nut palm decorated with tender leaves, which looks like huge ladder on head.
BHAIRAVAN

Dance of the Divine

13
Bhairavan is the prime deity of Paanan community and the deity is believed to be related to Shaivism cult. Artists from Malayan community also perform Bhairavan Theyyam. The performance of Bhairavan Theyyam is at night and the one performed by Paanan community has a story associated Periya puranam in Tamil literature.
Dance of the Divine

PARADEVATHA
PARADEVATHA

A form of the fierce Goddess Bhadrakali, this powerful deity is believed to have been born out of the third eye of Lord Shiva with the purpose of destroying the demon Darika.
POOKUTTI
A popular Theyyam which belongs to the Shaivite belief system, Pookutti was born as a child to Kalakattu Namboodiri. Born as a mischievous child, Pookutti followed non-vegetarian food habits and this enraged his father. The father himself killed the child and threw it into different fire pits. The pieces thrown into the fire pits emerged as Mantra Moorthis and Kuttichathans and destroyed the Kalakattu house.
KUTTICHATHAN
An incarnation of shaivite strength, Kuttichathan was born when Lord Shiva and Goddess Parvati lived for a while as mortals. It is believed that, he was given this form by Lord Shiva to appease childless devotees, the Kalakkattamma and Kalakkattachan. Growing up as a mischievous child, Kuttichathan decapitates his teacher. When he tries to hurt Kalakkattamma, and seeing this Kalakkattachan tears him into 396 pieces and throws them into fire. But an equal number of Kuttichathans emerge from the fire and the biggest among them went on a rampage. He is then placated by the Perumalayan, the senior most Theyyam performer of the Malayan Community at Chala in Kannur district.

The performer of Kuttichathan wears small headgear with tender coconut leaves attached to it. Sometimes Kuttichathan is believed to have taken the fish incarnation of Lord Vishnu, thus his role requires a fish tail-shaped mudi (headgear).
NAGAKAALI VELLATTU
Vellattam or Vellattu is an invocative ritual held prior to the actual Theyyam performance. The Nagakaali Vellattu is held for Nagakaali Theyyam, a fertility goddess worshiped by childless parents. Naga means serpent and Kaali is the Mother Goddess. It is through Vellattam that the mortal human being is believed to transform himself into the divine persona. Equivalent to the Thottam (the invocatory chant) ritual, Vellattams are dynamic.
ELAYIDATHU BHAGAVATHY THEYYAM
ELAYIDATHU BHAGAVATHY THEYYAM

Bhagavathy literally means Mother Goddess. Elayidathu Bhagavathy Theyyam, symbolizes the goodness over evil, this ancient form of worship includes performers blessing the devotees who throng around her.
KARNAVAR VELLATTU
Vellattam or Vellattu is an invocative ritual held prior to the actual Theyyam performance. The Karnavar Vellattu is held for Karnavar Theyyam, the primary deity of Vannan community in Kerala. It is through Vellattam that the mortal human being is believed to transform himself into the Godly persona.
KARNAVAR THEYYAM
A popular Theyyam performed by the Vannan community of Kerala, this Theyyam protects people from the hands of evil. Worshipped in household shrines and temporary shrines, the Theyyam is propitiated to ensure success in disputes. Once the mortal human being transform himself into the divine persona will be regarded as “God incarnate” and comes out with soothing words and pass on positive energy while blessing the devotees.
One of the most spectacular Theyyams in Kerala, Raktheshwari Theyyam is performed in honour of goddess Chamundi returning after killing the demon Mahishasura. The mother Goddess is supposed to have drunk the blood of the demon to prevent it from spilling to the Earth, thus the name Raktheshwari.

Symbolising the goodness over evil, this ancient form of worship includes performers blessing the devotees who throng around her.

VISHNUMOORTHY
An incarnation of Vaishnavite strength, Vishnumoorthy tells the story of incarnation of Lord Vishnu as Narasimha. The Vishnumoorthy is the deified form of Palanthai Kannan. Legend has it that Kannan, an orphaned boy from Thiyya community who lived in Nileshwaram, is treated badly by a so called upper caste Kuravat Kurup and banished from the land.

Kannan goes to Mangalore and takes shelter in a Vishnu temple there. He was a staunch devotee of Vishnu and later returns to Nileshwaram. While returning to the land, the Kurup kills Kannan, but Kurup’s family gets hit by various calamities. The confused Kurup is asked to pay for the murder of Kannan. As an apology of his crime, the Kuravat Kurup starts to honour Kannan as Theyyam.
KARINKAALI
Karinkali Theyyam is a goddess born from Lord Shiva’s third eye and an incarnation of Goddess Bhadrakali. Born with the aim of destroying the demon race, the performance of Karinkali is a marked feature of the ritual practices prevalent in northern Kerala.

KARINKAALI

Karinkali Theyyam is a goddess born from Lord Shiva’s third eye and an incarnation of Goddess Bhadrakali. Born with the aim of destroying the demon race, the performance of Karinkali is a marked feature of the ritual practices prevalent in northern Kerala.
CHAMUNDI
Chamundi is a myth of blood and spear known to all of India, but in the Theyyam performance this Goddess wields power. Chamundi, the incarnation of Adi Para Shakti, was born from the brow of Goddess Durga who was fighting with the demons Chanda and Munda. The goddess was impressed with Kali and called her Chamundi. The goddess blesses the devotees who throng around her after the scintillating performance and trance.
OTHENAN VELLATTU
Vellattam is an invocative ritual held prior to the actual Theyyam performance. Through this ritual, the mortal human being is believed to get transformed into the divine self. It is equivalent to the Thottam, the invocatory chant, but is more colourful and vigorous.

Thacholi Othenan was a legendary hero who is believed to have lived during 16th century in North Malabar region of Kerala. Ballads of northern Kerala or Vadakkanpattu laud the feats of Thacholi Othenan. The Vellattu ritual held prior to the Othenan Theyyam is Othenan Vellattu.
GURUDEVAN VELATTU
GURUDEVAN VELATTU

Vellattam is an invocative ritual held prior to the actual Theyyam performance. The Vellattu ritual held prior to the Gurudevan Theyyam is Gurudevan Vellattu.
