ECOTOURISM AT THENMALA- SHENDURNEY 35
WHY KERALA 36
Most great quests begin with the simple desire to change an existing precondition. There are some, however, that aim at preserving the intrinsic beauty of a particular area. Thenmala began as that dream, an ambitious undertaking to preserve and educate the world on the natural boons that thrive in this region. Among Southern Kerala's finest ecotourism sites, Thenmala shines as paves the way towards building a future where man and nature coexist harmoniously and in a mutually beneficial manner. This area is home to Shendurney Wildlife Sanctuary, a veritable treasure trove of endemic flora and fauna. Shendurney derives its name from the native species known as ‘Chenkurunji’ and is the only sanctuary of its kind in all of Kollam district.
Holding the record of being India’s first planned ecotourism destination, it is located 66 km to the east of Kollam and 72 km from Thiruvananthapuram. It lies at the conjunction of the Kollam-Shencottah road and the Trivandrum-Shencottah Road. The overall property covers the majestic hill ranges of Thiruvananthapuram, Pathanamthitta and Kollam districts. Nearby Shenduruney Wildlife Sanctuary covers a total area of 171 sq. km and comes under the Agasthyamala Biosphere Reserve.
Activities and Attractions

Spread out over 10 specialized ecotourism spots, it encompasses everything from boat rides to leisurely walks to even adventure sports like mountain biking and rock climbing. Add to these the visuals of Thenmala Dam, the swaying bridge available at the Leisure Zone, winding pathways, boardwalk, sculpture garden and the deep woods of Thenmala are some the special attractions at this wonderful site. Nearby lie a famous picnic spot and one of the highest waterfalls in Kerala, Palaruvi, which literally means ‘a stream of milk’. It is divided into three major zones, each with a particular theme – Culture Zone, Leisure Zone and Adventure Zone.
Its very name, ‘Thenmala’, translates to ‘Honey Hill’. The place is famous for its high-quality honey that is famous around the world and is always in high demand. The surrounding dense forest is also known for the timber available here, with its overall terrain being dotted by rubber and tree plantations. The Nakshatravanam, a nursery of trees that are considered sacred to the 27 constellations, has people thronging to it to take home a sapling of the tree related to their own birth star. At the banks of the Kallada lies Thenmala’s iconic Deer Rehabilitation Centre, its inhabitants include deer that have unfortunately strayed out of the forest. One always gets to see barking deer, spotted deer and sambar deer casually grazing in these parts at all times. Its Butterfly Park hosts around 125 species and many rare avian species as well, especially hornbills.

This planet we are on nurtures over 7 billion inhabitants on a daily basis. While its marvels are beyond the realm of any one person’s imagination, it is easy to notice the damages that are being caused on each and every front, due to the rise in population and the spread of civilization. Even the uninhabited corners of Mother Earth are now being turned into urban centres, and this affects the fragile balance that has kept the planet afloat this entire time.

Tourism is a great bonding element, mixing and mashing cultural experiences from across the world. People gain empathy for those they may have nothing in common with, with places their ancestors may never have heard of or traditions they could never have even dreamt of. Hence, the combination of environmentally driven ecological sites being used as prime tourist destinations leads to the wonderful concept of ecotourism.
Significance of Ecotourism

Ecotourism lets people appreciate the many boons that Mother Earth has bestowed us with. It is the epitome of making people realize the true value of the treasures that we are endangering with our reckless actions. It is the clarion call that resonates within one’s soul in a seamless but provocative manner, evoking the basic empathy that is the first step in battling the environmental dangers we are facing in this day and age.
From the very beginning, Thenmala aimed at being beyond the simple tag of an ‘Ecotourism Project’. Regular steps have been taken to integrate the natural boons in these parts with internationally accepted tourism norms. All visitors get to learn and experience how modern technological inventions and simple heartfelt planning can go a long way in the process of coexisting with nature. Thenmala is living testament to the fact that man can build alongside nature instead of degrading and sullying their intrinsic beauty. Each stroll, swim or hike takes you on a special through specific zones that nurture our very soul at every point, with nature being the perfect host it has always been.
Why Kerala

The majestic trees and peeking wildlife that greet you during your journey are hallmarks of Kerala and its endless bounty of natural beauty. Much of our lore and tradition emanates from these parts, and they are treasure troves of our past and heritage. They are priceless cultural landmarks, behemoths of history and proud jewels that adorn our vast landscape. Kerala and its people have known for a long time the immense responsibility they have inherited from their ancestors; true crusaders who ensured the well-being of this land for centuries. It is now our moment, our time in history, to repay the gifts that the land has blessed us with.

Hence, the people and governments at all levels have come together to formulate ways to conserve and protect the myriad floral and faunal species that grace our unique landscape. Concerted efforts have been made in the last few decades, alongside budgetary allotments and specific policy changes, that has made Kerala one among the pioneers in the Ecotourism movement around the world. Being a region with such an abundance of natural resources, it seems only fitting that we set an example and lead the way in the global resistance against any threats to our environment.
