THE EXPERIENCE

Your journey will begin from Kavanattinkara, Kumarakom at 9 am after a briefing session. Accompanying you will be a guide who will take you through expansive farming tracts and also introduce you to the farmers behind the effort. The trip will be made by country boat, bicycle and auto rickshaw.

STOPOVER 1: KAIPPUZHAMUTTU BRIDGE

Our journey will start from the Kaippuzhamuthu Bridge from where you can see traditional duck farming in the backwaters. Nearby, in a farmyard, you can watch and learn the complex process of converting coconut husk into coir fibre.

Try your hand at coir making at Nalini's house, where you can observe the different stages involved in the process. We then proceed to Manchadikkary in an auto rickshaw.

STOPOVER 3: MOHAN'S FARM

Mohan, the farm club secretary, has a vast farmstead where integrated farming is practised. Along with a variety of crops there is dairy farming and a fish pond with rohu, carp, katla, pearlspot, prawns etc.. Here, we can watch the process of tapping toddy from the coconut tree. A toddy tapper climbs up with a tapping kit to extract the sweet brew in a systematic but cumbersome process that requires deft skills. Down the trail, we will reach a lakeside where the conventional way of fishing is followed using catch nets and rods and lines. You can also try your luck at hooking a catch. Choose from among the day's catch what you'll have for lunch. And watch while it gets cooked and served, then and there, with your Kerala style lunch served on a plantain leaf. Also try the fresh toddy and fish curry sourced from the locality.

STOPOVER 4: PADDY FIELDS

We resume our journey with a walk through paddy fields that teem with bird life for the greater part of the year. These fields are in fact part of the Kumarakom Bird Sanctuary.

STOPOVER 5: SEBASTIAN'S FARM

A successful farmer, Sebastian practices organic farming. We can get to know the different techniques he employs in cultivating his various crops organically. Also, we find here a rare collection of ethnic breeds of livestock like Kasargodan cattle, Jamnapaari goats, quails, ducks and fowls.

STOPOVER 6: JOYCHAN'S FARM

A five minute walk will take us to our next stop - Joychan's farm. The secretary of the local farmers association, he will share with us how Responsible Tourism is benefitting the local community through organized agricultural practices. Refreshments of tender coconut and bananas are waiting for us here.
